Aquire OrgPublisher Executive: Mobile workforce intelligence on your iPad.

Your business moves fast. The accelerated execution of your company's strategic initiatives drives a constant need for high-performing talent. Even if you're not in the office, you're still working—especially if you have an Apple iPad®. That's why we developed Aquire OrgPublisher Executive, our new iPad app enabling C-level executives, line managers and HR professionals to manage talent on the go, even when offline.

OrgPublisher Executive delivers a mobile experience designed to help busy executives and managers understand their people, their talents, worker strengths and overall performance. Leveraging pre-published OrgPublisher org chart reports and designed specifically for the iPad's revolutionary interface, OrgPublisher Executive provides actionable information in an accurate and highly visual manner.

Get visual answers to your company's workforce management questions.

An org chart is great for seeing the names and titles of everyone under a manager's span of control, but OrgPublisher Executive goes beyond org charts by allowing you to view rich, employee data about both full time and contingent workforces as well. Leveraging your company's HRIS data and industry-standard workforce metrics, OrgPublisher Executive enables C-suite leaders and line managers to quickly analyze relevant workforce information within the context of the organizational structure.

You can configure OrgPublisher Executive on the iPad to get quick answers to strategic questions like, "who are the flight risks in the sales division?" or "do we have an employee in our contingent workforce who may be qualified to fill a talent gap?" and "where would we find a replacement for our lead engineer if that person left tomorrow?"

Connect to your talent from anywhere, anytime.

OrgPublisher Executive works as an extension of Aquire OrgPublisher Premier to synchronize the published org chart and all accompanying data with your iPad. OrgPublisher Premier is world-renowned for producing the fastest, most flexible org charts in the industry, and now OrgPublisher Executive is the mobile solution for securely delivering that valuable information in an iPad-ready format. This allows you to work remotely with a holistic view of your workforce using all of the hard-to-reach employee information stored in SAP®, Oracle® and PeopleSoft® databases. With a few taps, you can email workforce data lists securely from your iPad to share workforce intelligence data with other managers.

Quickly find employee information with easy, flexible filters and categories.

Configure OrgPublisher Executive's powerful filters and categories to find employees from your iPad. Search and view your results by categories such as organizational business unit, gender, location, position or name and then drill down to see relevant details for specific employees. Using the powerful filtering capability, you can find employees in your contingent workforce who report under an area of the organization to help you fill possible talent gaps quickly. You can also send emails directly to any employee you find with a quick finger tap.

Identify and visualize team hierarchies on your iPad.

See a boardroom-ready Profile View of teams in your organization based on managerial span of control. Switch from the Profile View to the List View to see additional workforce data configured to your needs. OrgPublisher Executive aggregates workforce data from multiple HRIS data sources in your company to provide instant and secure access to critical employee information such as name, supervisor, title, department, email, phone and much more.
